Marriage Tip of the Week

Have you ever sought professional help for troubles between you? Perhaps you don't need it, but don't let pride or procrastination rob you of your chance to learn new skills and heal.

The Moms of Mercy group is a faith sharing group made up of mothers of infants through school-aged children (or those women hoping to become mothers). Twice a month, we get together to share faith, scripture, prayer, and Jesus' message of Divine Mercy as we support one another in our struggles and joys as mothers and Catholic Christian families. We also reach out to show God's Mercy to the community through acts of mercy. We invite you to join us on the Second and Fourth Wednesday of the month from 8am-10am in the Hall. Our first meeting will be September 12. We have social time from 8-8:30 so come grab a cup of coffee or feel free to arrive whenever you are able to! We have FREE Childcare available! Call or text Kristin (520-234-7608) or Amy (520-459-2188) for more information.

The gospel today hits home closer than we may think. What traditions do we blindly cling to? Perhaps it is enough for us just to go to Mass on Sunday? Do we keep the letter of the law and miss entirely the spirit of the law. Interior righteousness means a heart turned to God. Purity of heart is expressed in righteous living: self-giving for the sake of others.

As you give your gifts to the poor through the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, in your heart you also will find the good news of God's love.

Arizona Rosary Celebration 2018

October 20, 2018

10:00a.m.-12:15p.m.

St. Elizabeth Ann Seton Catholic Church
8650 North Shannon Rd., Tucson, AZ 85742
Most Rev. Edward J. Weisenburger, Presiding

We look forward to the 2018 Arizona Rosary Celebration as we honor our Blessed Mother under her title Our Lady of Czestochowa, "the one who shows the way". This image has been an icon of prayer and strength for the people of Poland for centuries. As we prepare to celebrate this devotion to Mary in the Rosary celebration, we are called to imitate the strength of Mary and to be attentive to those most in need.

DIOCESE OF TUCSON RISK MANAGEMENT ADVISORY

Family Emergency Scams

Scammers may pose as relatives or friends, calling or sending messages to urge you to wire money immediately. They'll say they need cash to help with an emergency — like getting out of jail, paying a hospital bill, or needing to leave a foreign country. Their goal is to trick you into sending money before you realize it's a scam.

Verify an Emergency

If someone calls or sends a message claiming to be a family member or a friend desperate for money:

- Resist the urge to act immediately, no matter how dramatic the story is.
- Verify the person's identity by asking questions that a stranger couldn't possibly answer.
- Call a phone number for your family member or friend that you know to be genuine.
- Check the story out with someone else in your family or circle of friends, even if you've been told to keep it a secret.
- Don't wire money — or send a check or money order by overnight delivery or courier.
- Report possible fraud at ftc.gov/complaint or by calling 1-877-FTC-HELP.

Scammers Use Tricks

They impersonate your loved one convincingly.

It's surprisingly easy for a scam artist to impersonate someone. Social networking sites make it easier than ever to sleuth out personal and family information. Scammers also could hack into the e-mail account of someone you know. To make their story seem legitimate, they may involve another crook who claims to be an authority figure, like a lawyer or police officer.

They play on your emotions.

Scammers are banking on your love and concern to outweigh your skepticism. In one version of this scam, con artists impersonate grandchildren in distress to trick concerned grandparents into sending money. Sometimes, this is called a "Grandparent Scam."

They swear you to secrecy.

Con artists may insist that you keep their request for money confidential — to keep you from checking out their story and identifying them as imposters. Victims of this scam often don't realize they've been tricked until days later, when they speak to their actual family member or friend who knows nothing about the "emergency." By then, the money they sent can't be recovered.

They insist that you wire money right away.

Scammers pressure people into wiring money because it's like sending cash — once it's gone, you can't trace it or get it back. Imposters encourage using money transfer services so they can get your money before you realize you've been scammed.

Report Scams

If you've responded to a scam, file a complaint with: 1) the FTC 2) Arizona Attorney General

Estafas de emergencias de familia

Los estafadores pueden hacerse pasar por familiares o amigos llamando o enviando mensajes para pedirle a usted que les transfiera dinero inmediatamente. Dicen que necesitan dinero en efectivo para que usted los ayude en una emergencia — para salir de prisión, pagar una factura de hospital, o porque necesitan salir de un país extranjero. El objetivo es engañarlo para que usted les envíe dinero antes de que pueda darse cuenta de que es una estafa.

Verifique si es una emergencia

Si alguien lo llama o le envía un mensaje diciendo que es un familiar o amigo que necesita dinero desesperadamente:

- Resista la presión de actuar inmediatamente, cualquiera sea la gravedad de la historia que le cuenten.
- Verifique la identidad de esa persona haciéndole preguntas que un desconocido no podría contestar.
- Llame al número de teléfono usual de su familiar o amigo.
- Compruebe la veracidad de la historia con alguna otra persona de su familia o círculo de amigos, aunque le hayan dicho que guarde el secreto.
- No haga una transferencia de dinero — ni envíe un cheque u orden de pago por un servicio de entrega urgente o mensajería.
- Reporte el posible fraude en ftc.gov/queja o llame al 1-877-FTC-HELP.

Los estafadores usan trampas

Se hacen pasar convincentemente por un ser querido.

Es sorprendente lo fácil que le resulta a un estafador oportunista hacerse pasar por otra persona. Los sitios de redes sociales hacen que sea más fácil que nunca averiguar la información personal y familiar. Los estafadores también podrían piratear la cuenta de e-mail de algún conocido. Para que su historia parezca legítima, pueden involucrar a otro estafador que dice ser alguien que representa a la autoridad, como un abogado u oficial de policía.

Se aprovechan de sus sentimientos.

Para contrarrestar su escepticismo, los estafadores apuestan a sus sentimientos y a su preocupación. Una de las versiones de esta estafa consiste en llamar a alguien haciéndose pasar por su nieto, decirle al abuelo que tiene algún problema para engañarlo y conseguir que el abuelo preocupado le envíe dinero. Esto suele llamarse la “estafa del abuelo”.

Le hacen jurar que guardará el secreto.

Los estafadores oportunistas pueden insistir para que usted mantenga en secreto su pedido de dinero — para impedir que usted verifique la historia y detecte que son impostores. A menudo, las víctimas de esta estafa no se dan cuenta de que las han engañado hasta después de unos días cuando hablan con el verdadero familiar o amigo que no sabe nada sobre la “emergencia”. Llegado ese momento, ya es imposible recuperar el dinero.

Insisten para que les transfiera dinero inmediatamente.

Los estafadores presionan a las personas para que les hagan una transferencia de dinero porque es lo mismo que enviar dinero en efectivo — una vez que usted hace la transferencia, ya no puede seguir el rastro del dinero ni tampoco puede recuperarlo. Los impostores le dicen que use servicios de transferencia de dinero para apropiarse de su dinero antes de que usted se dé cuenta de que lo han estafado.

Denunciar estafas

presentar una queja con: 1) el FTC y 2) Abogado General de Arizona
